Information about browsers:
These sites ought to function well on recent versions of commonly used browsers and on different devices and platforms (e.g. PCs running on Windows, iPads on iOS, Tablets on Android, and various smart phones).

However, different browsers (with different settings and/or add-ons) can result in certain systems, or functionality within systems, not operating correctly.

Users are therefore encouraged to download more than one browser onto their device and, should a problem be encountered when using a specific browser, to then try accessing the site with another.
